The National Horseracing Museum opened in 2016 as a major new visitor attraction and community cultural hub in the heart of the town. It offers a world-class museum and art gallery alongside a working stable yard with a four-acre paddock and an arena.

At the museum we aim to be:

- an engaging, immersive, experience for all
- a beautiful building in the heart of Newmarket, celebrating the fascinating world of Horseracing & British Sporting Art – a living museum
- the destination to meet, eat and enjoy a day in Newmarket
- more than just horses and racing, an inspirational and flexible community space for families to relax and be social
- a vibrant hub and new accessible venue in the Newmarket community
- a must-visit destination.

As part of this exciting development we offer a range of volunteering opportunities to help us achieve these aims.
